Solemnity of Saints Peter and Paul

Today the universal Church celebrates two great apostles—Saint Peter and Saint Paul—who, though so different in background and temperament, became one in love for Christ and in their witness to the Gospel.

Peter was the humble fisherman chosen by Jesus to be the rock on which the Church was built. Despite moments of fear and failure, the Lord restored him, and he became the first shepherd of the flock. Paul, once a zealous persecutor of Christians, was radically transformed by an encounter with the Risen Christ. His tireless missionary journeys and profound letters continue to shape our faith to this day. Both apostles gave their lives in Rome for the sake of the Gospel, their martyrdom sealing their testimony with blood.

This year, we celebrate their feast in a unique historical moment—during the early months of Pope Leo XIV's pontificate, following the passing of Pope Francis. As the Church enters a new chapter under the guidance of our Holy Father, the witness of Peter and Paul reminds us that the Church is always being renewed, yet always built upon the same apostolic foundation. Here in the Archdiocese of Regina, under the pastoral care of Bishop Donald Bolen, we are invited to deepen our faith, strengthen our unity, and renew our commitment to evangelization. Let us take three lessons from these two apostles:

- Like Peter, remain steadfast in Christ, even when our faith is tested.
- Like Paul, proclaim the Gospel with joy, courage, and conviction.

Like both, remain in communion with the Church, especially in praying for our Pope, our bishop, and one another.

May Saints Peter and Paul intercede for our parish and our families. May we, too, become bold witnesses to Christ in a world hungry for truth and love.

In the peace of Christ,
Father Thuy
